TRANSVAAL COURTING.

THE BERNs marry very young. On taking the age of twenty a youth begins to look out for a partner in life.

The young peasant mounts his horse and rides from farm to farm to select a bride from the daughters of the land. You tell from a distance what he is after. His woolen shirt is adorned with a clean collar, perhaps a necktie as well. His boots of unfaded leather have been polished with particular care, his broad-brimmed felt hat is trimmed with a new band of pale blue silk and a new bright colored rug is placed under his saddle.

A way he gallops to the next farm, where he dismounts, drinks a few litres of coffee, smokes a dozen pipes, takes three meals with whether she had asked for them, with con-

HOW SHE CHASTISES.

WHEN a south seas and mother wishes to chastise her child she seldom resorts to slapping and slippers. Of course, she has none. Instead of using the force of punishment customary among civilized mothers, she pulls the child's hair and bites some part of the body, generally the fleshy part of the arm. In wandering about the villages one sees many children having on their bodies scars produced by wounds in-fllicted by their mothers' teeth. When a mother wishes to caress her child she draws her thumb across his eyelids or cheek or deftly seizes the cheek between her teeth. The rubbing of noses is also a mark of affection among the Kingman Islanders, as it is among the Maoris of New Zealand.—Chicago Times Herald.

SOME AIRY TOILETS.

THE glorious sun of the last week of two brings out many airy and dainty toilets. The shades of fabrics are to be seen—chicly white or light tinted, with the popular colored silk lining, giving tone to the costume. Pure white is, the family, devours the daughters with his eyes and talks as little as possible.

After sundown, when the lights have been brought into the room and the family are preparing to retire to rest, he plucks up courage and asks the mother to allow Minnie, or whatever the selected one's name is, to stay up with him a little longer.

Permission is at once granted; Minnie beautifully re-enters the parlor, puts a lighted candle on the table, sits down in one corner and says nothing.

Our sailor sits in another corner, smokes, expectorates and says not a word. Nevertheless, Minnie, shy, pines as she is, has contrived to let her admirer know whether she likes him or not by the size of the candle. The longer it is, the longer they may sit up together.

Next morning the Boer saddles his horse and rides off to another farm, where the same process is gone through, and so on until he has made up his mind which of the girls he will have. Whereupon he rides back to his farm, again sits up half the night, and without wasting many words, makes her an offer, which is very seldom rejected. The wedding is celebrated on the following Sunday.

REYNOLD'S POST SETS.

Veterans Give an Enjoyable Entertainment at Mount Pleasant.

Between three and four hundred persons attended the lawn party given by the John F. Reynolds Post, No. 6, G. O. A. R., at the residence of Mr. John B. Elms, Fourteenth street and Howard avenue, last evening. The festival was held for the benefit of the post club fund.

The commodious grounds were brilliantly lighted with numerous Chinese lanterns, and tastefully decorated booths and tables were scattered about in every direction. Music was furnished by the Victor Drum Corps, seventeen strong.

The welcoming address was delivered by Post Department Commander N. M.

Brooks, in which he spoke of the purpose of the G. O. A. R. and the relief it gave to its unfortunate members.

There were songs by Miss Addie O'Brien,

Miss Fanny Calvert, Mr. George Lillibridge and Mr. George Scott. Humorous and pathetic recitations were delivered by Mrs. Haywood and Miss Staley. The Misses Danforth executed a mandolin duet and Dr. C. P. Lincoln ended the program with an address thanking all for their attendance and liberality.

The post has decided to continue the festivals and the next Mount Pleasant Field Band will be present.

EXPERIMENT WITH SILK WORMS

THE superintendent of the reformatory prison for women at Sherburne, Mrs.

Ellen C. Johnson, who has for years been one of the most enthusiastic as well as most successful propagators of the silk worm in this country, has lately finished a highly interesting experiment with eggs received direct from Japan, where such a specialty is made of this branch of domestic industry. Mrs. Johnson, having been engaged in the work for quite a time, the inbreeding process had, it was found, lessened the value of the eggs obtained, consequently the results were not as satisfactory as could be wished for. She had this satisfaction, however, that the worms she had brought forth have already begun to produce a crop which is the first in color and texture of anything made in this country, as far as her experience goes. The variety of eggs is what is known in Japan as "Kishimon," and they were produced at an institution founded by the Silk Industry Guild for the purpose of raising worms.

Another trial of eggs from the same source will be made. Chicago Times Herald.

MEMORY OF HOME.

IN a recent sermon Rev. Winot T. Savage said: "No boy, no girl, can ever come to be utterly free from remembrance of his love and tenderness and unselfishness and sweetness associated with father and mother in the old-time home.

"Give them manly and womanly example; give them training; give them the inspiration of devoted lives; give them these higher, deeper things.

"Do not care so much for whether you are accumulating money, so that you can leave them a fortune. I really believe that the chances are against that being
